A diagram of a wooden door with a handle. The door is light brown with a vertical grain. The handle is a dark brown, curved, semi-circular shape with a small rectangular pull. The handle is mounted on the right side of the door.

A diagram of a wooden door with a handle. The door is light brown with a vertical grain pattern. It has a dark brown handle on the right side. The handle is a simple, curved shape. The door is shown in a slightly open position, revealing a white wall behind it.
